The Editor's Column

The Board of Trustees of the Carmel Unified School District went on record Tuesday night as opposing absorption of the Carmel school system into a peninsula-wide school district, a proposition that may come up for election if it is recommended to the state by a redistricting committee, now considering the matter.

So important is the issue to Carmel that we are printing here, almost in its entirety, the board's statement of its reasons for rejecting the proposal.

Statement of Policy on Redistricting:

By the Board of Trustees, Carmel Unified School District
March, 1948.

The Board of Trustees believes that Carmel should not unify with Monterey and Pacific Grove because Carmel is a separate, distinct, unusual community, wishing to keep its schools under its own control so that there will be no danger of subordinating its wishes for the education of its children to the will of the board of education of a larger district which, in order to meet the needs of a majority might weaken the educational plan in the community of Carmel.

It has voted a bond issue to finance a superior schoolhousing plan and is in the midst of executing that plan.

Carmel has already fought for and won its independence from Monterey. In that fight for independence O. W. Bardarson, then Superintendent of the Sunset Elementary School District at Carmel, made the following statements which are still in keeping with Carmel's attitude:

"Carmel as a community has a distinct personality. The people of Carmel reflect more than the usual appreciation of an interest in the cultural arts. It is a rapidly growing community and as such will wish to exercise full control and voice in affairs that are distinctly pertinent to and a part of Carmel. When a community has attained the population status of Carmel and has the wealth to provide educational facilities for its youth it is ready to assume stewardship of the elementary and high school functions. Carmel has every practical and idealistic justification in asking for and demanding its own high school institution. It has the right to determine how much and in what manner it should expend its monies for the high school plant. (At present we could say that we are taxed without representation, but that is not our concern particularly.)

Peter Mawdsley, Financial Adviser, says on the same issue: "The Carmel Unified School District has developed an economy of administration that leaves it with the very low District rate of $1.11, although shouldering a relatively high cost per pupil. By planning and foresight it expects to maintain this position. It has spent money for surveys, and, based on these and other studies, has a program of development outlined for many years ahead. It asks the

Mayor Calls Meeting With 10th-11th St. Property Owners

Mayor Fred Godwin has called a conference of property owners on Tenth and Eleventh Streets with the City Council for Friday, March 19, at 4:00 o'clock at city hall.

The council will explain what street work is proposed for that area and what materials will be used. If the property owners approve, arrangements will be made for collecting contributions.

At previous discussions, the city offered to pay for labor if the property owners would pay for materials.

Tomorrow! Carmel's Best Free Show, The Annual Kite Festival And Parade

Parade for one of Carmel's most colorful events of the year, the Annual Kite Festival, lines up at Sunset tomorrow at 1:15. Chief of Police Roy Fraties will lead in an official car, followed by the Fire Department's red and nickel "Disaster Wagon," polished to the nth degree and loaded with enthusiastic junior kite makers. Next will come the city street department trucks, also in a high state of polish and carrying a cargo of excited kids with their odd, beautiful, peculiar and wonderful high-flying creations. Parents, friends and just plain people who love a parade will bring up the rear with their cars, kids and kites.

When the parade arrives at the high school field, there will be awaiting it the usual audience that had to get there first to watch the contestants who had to try out first. Ernest Calley, major domo, will take over, and the show will be on, with the usual happy confusion of tangled string, nose diving kites that need tail adjustment, and the big one that got away.

Then will come the dramatic moment when it must be decided which of these wonderful kites are in the super-wonderful class, true prize winners.

P. A. McCreery has appointed the following to make the difficult decisions: Gene Ricketts, Clayton Schuttish, Rev. Alfred Seccombe, Edward Neroda, William Arleigh Smith, Rollo Payne, Speirs Ruskell, Mrs. Anita Dormody, Cecil Haskell and Miss Nancy Johnson.

Order of the events and the prizes: high flying, 5th grade and under: Xacto set, coping saw, knife; kindergarten and first grade: coping saw, bubble set, ball twine; 200 ft. flight — 5th grade and under: book, hacksaw, screwdriver; 2nd grade and 3rd grade, best made: coping saw, pencil set, pliers; prettiest kite, all grades: book, camera, screwdriver; fourth and fifth grades, best made: hammer, coping saw, screwdriver; high flying — over 5th grade: hatchet, chisel, knife; adult group: baywood bowl, walnut card tray.

Mr. Benny Yben will give an exhibit of several Filipino kites before the judges make their decisions.

THE CANDIDATES

Here are the third of a series of thumb-nail biographies of the candidates for city council. More next week.

ANDREW MARTIN

Andrew W. Martin is a retired sergeant of the State Highway Patrol. He was born in San Francisco in 1898, but has always lived in Monterey County, and for the last seven years in Carmel at Carpenter and Fifth Streets, where he and Mrs. Martin have their home. His acquaintance with Carmel is in the old timer status, since he spent his boyhood on his father's ranch in Carmel Valley and many holidays in Carmel as the guest of the Fred Bechdolt family. During World War I, he served in the submarine branch of the Navy, and is now a member of the American Legion, also a member of the Salinas Elks Club and the Carmel Masonic Lodge.

He states that he became a candidate for city council because he wishes to devote some of the leisure of his retirement to community service. He filed his petition of candidacy February 26 and is sponsored by Lewis Poulos, Cree L. Wilder, Barnet J. Segal, R. F. Ohm, Mary Louise Miller, Fred Bechdolt, J. E. Abernethy, Dr. R. A. Kocher, James H. Cooke and J. F. Murphy.

HENRY M. GLEASON

Henry M. Gleason, born in Hartford, Conn, in 1876, has lived in Carmel for fifteen years. He graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1899 and served in the Navy for 25 years. He is a veteran of the Spanish American War, and of both World Wars. During World War II he was in charge of naval construction in the San Francisco area, and was released from this work to become manager of naval construction at the West Coast yard of the Moore Drydock Co. in Oakland. His experience in commercial life includes service as operating manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. He is on the retired list of the U. S. Naval Reserve with the rank of Captain. He is a charter member of the Carmel American Legion Post No. 512. He states that he believes in preserving Carmel traditions as a haven for retired people and as a center of artistic, musical, and literary activities. He filed his candidacy on March 1 and is sponsored by H. W. Schull, James R. Henry, Henry F. Jurs, Helen Hughes, Gladys Kingsland Dixon, Daniel Douglas MacGregor, William E. Pulliam, Walter Nielsen, Robert R. Spencer and Leonard J. Cosky.

ALLEN KNIGHT

Allen Knight was born in San Francisco in 1901 and arrived in Carmel the same year. Since then he has always had a home here. He is co-owner, with Ernest Morehouse, of Peninsula Properties, realtors, in Monterey. He served for eighteen years on the Carmel Sanitary Board, and is at present a member of the Carmel city council, serving as police commissioner. He has been asked by Fred Godwin, mayor of Carmel, to run for re-election to the council. He is interested, he says, in maintaining the village atmosphere of Carmel as far as possible. He has been playing softball on the Abalone League for twenty years, and has recently conrtibuted three members to the League— his son and two daughters.

During World War II he served as Lieutenant, Senior Grade, in the State Naval Guard. He filed his candidacy on February 25 and is sponsored by: Samuel E. Coleman, N. A. Burke, Nils Norberg, R. J. Hart, P. A. McCreery, R. F. D. La Mon, Horace D. Lyon, Clayton B. Neill and B. Franklin Dixon.

CHARLES CHILDERS

Charles Childers was born in 1895 on a farm near Coffeeville, Kansas. He has lived in Carmel since 1940, and owns his own home at Lobos and Third. He is a past Commander of the American Legion, and served overseas in World War I.

He is a member of the Carmel Business Association and a director of the Carmel Boy's Club.

He recently sold the service

MOBILE UNIT COMING

The mobile unit of the Monterey County Tuberculosis and Health Association will be stationed on Nielsen's Parking Lot, Dolores and Seventh, Saturday, April 10, from noon to 8 p.m., to take chest X-rays free of charge.

"It is a part of a county-wide and national drive to locate tuberculosis and certain heart diseases in early stages. I hope Carmel will cooperate 100 per cent," says Miss Helena Tavernetti, executive secretary. "We want to take pictures of everybody, especially adults, since our program of checking the school children comes in the fall."

Cast Selected For H. S. Senior Play, Pride And Prejudice

Mrs. Mariquita Brey, drama teacher at Carmel High School, announced her selections for the cast of the senior play, Pride and Prejudice. The play, a dramatization of the Jane Austen classic by Jane Kendall, is a more ambituous undertaking than the comedy dramas generally selected for high school production, but the students felt in chosing Pride and Prejudice that it would be worth extra effort to produce a play that could be enjoyed by an adult audience. It will be presented at Sunset Auditorium on April 30.

The cast, chosen from the 45 students who tried out for the parts: Mr. Bennet, Wynne Hutchings; Mrs. Bennet, Judith Campbell; Jane Bennet, Betty Plaxton; Elizabeth Bennet, Colleen Dolan; Mary Bennet, Sunny Cook; Kitty Bennet, Beverly Dowgaillo; Lydia Bennet, Carol Hildebrand; Mr. Collins, Basil Allaire; Mr. Bingley, Mike Monahan; Miss Bingley, Elizabeth Klein; Mr. Darcy, Paul Warner; Lady Catharine de Bourgh, Eleanor Bannerman; Lady Lucas, Carmelita Fortier; Charlotte Lucas, Wanda Warren; Mr. Wickham, Phil Wettengel; Hill, Edith Barbie.

Not only are elaborate period costuming and sets required, but considerable dramatic ability will be called for since satire demands skillful interpretation.

Car Count Shows Sign Unnecessary

The tourist convenience vs. Carmel tradition controversy need not come to an issue. Donald Craig, city councilman, sat on a dirt embankment at the corner of Ocean and Carpenter streets all day Sunday counting cars. Only two out of a thousand failed to make the turn into town.

He will report to the city council that the planning commission's recommendation for a directional sign saying, "To Carmel," at the above corner is not necessary.

"The elbow turn sign a block away is sufficient direction," Craig told the Pine Cone. "Of the thousand cars headed for Carmel, only two failed to make the turn and one had a sign on it, 'Just Married,' so they probably would have gone off the deep end somewhere else, if not there."

The Business Association recommended that a "To Carmel" sign be placed at the corner last fall on the contention that strangers wishing to go to the business section continued on down Carpenter street, which terminates in a dead end in the residence district, instead of making the turn on to Ocean Avenue. At the time there was a highway ebow turn sign on Carpenter two blocks away from the intersection, which increased the confusion since the street immediately following the elbow turn sign was obviously a secondary thoroughfare. Several weeks ago the street department moved the elbow sign to the last corner before the Ocean Avenue intersection.

Meanwhile, the planning commission, considering the Business Association application, recommended that the "To Carmel" sign be placed at the corner of Ocean and Carpenter.

When the matter came up before the city council last week, heated opposition developed from a member of the audience who pointed out that Carmel tradition since the days of Perry Newberry frowned on such signs. Craig, who was opposed to the implied commercialism of the directional sign offered to make a survey to find if it were really needed.

Old Timers Asked To Help Mrs. Nixon With Memory Book

Mrs. D. E. Nixon is calling all Carmel residents to dig into their attics, trunks, and basements for photographs, clippings, theatre programs, anything and everything on old Carmel days. A twenty-five year resident of Carmel, Mrs. Nixon is having a lot of fun and doing the community a service by collecting mementos of Carmel's past and putting them together in a Memory Book which she will present to the Carmel Library.

Some of the photographs she has already collected: the bathhouse on the beach before there were any trees, the Mission before its reconstruction, the first buildings on Ocean Avenue. She hopes to show in her Memory Book such subjects as the educational progress of Carmel by photos of early

TIGERS AND GIANTS VICTORS IN ABALONE LEAGUE PLAY

Perfect baseball weather last Sunday brought out scores of softball enthusiasts who enjoyed two typical Abalone League games. The first encounter of the afternoon saw the favored Shamrocks fall before the shrewd hurling of Jack Giles. Jack kept the potent Shamrocks clubbers off balance for most of the game and had them popping up to the infield when hits meant runs. Lew Saunders was the only Shamrock who could solve the tricky Gile's slants, but his big bat wasn't enough to turn the tide in favor of the Green. Mel Ray wielded the big stick for the Tigers by walloping a home run with two runners on the paths. Mel also sparkled in the outfield with his antelope stride covering the outer gardens like a blanket. This victory definitely established the Tigers at the top of the heap and make them the feared team in the league.

In the second tilt, the Whiteside-led Giants showed definite improvement over their first performance by thoroughly shellacking the cellar-dwelling Pilots, 15 to 12. Allen Knight on the mound for the Pilots momentarily lost his fast one during the third inning and the Giants climbed on him for 9 tallies. Not to be outdone the Pilots came roaring back in the bottom of the third and picked on George DeAmaral for 8 markers. With a total of 17 runs scored in one inning, players of both teams were so tired that scoring was held to a minimum for the rest of the contest.

Next Sunday at 1:30 the Giants and Tigers hook up in a game which will have a definite bearing on the top standing. If the Giants win, they will be tied with the Tigers for first place. A victory for the Tigers will firmly ensconce them in the coveted spot. The 2:30 game will match the Shamrocks and Pilots in a game which will see both teams endeavoring to get back on the victory trail.

SENIORS WIN HEAVYWEIGHT TRACK TITLE; SOPHOMORES WIN LIGHTWEIGHT MEET

Taking four first places between them, Paul Warner and Curtis Gorham practically assured the Seniors of first place in the annual inter-class track meet at Carmel High School. Warner copped both the 100 and 220 yard dashes and ran on the winning relay team. Gorham won the 110 yard low hurdles and broadjump and did a stint in the relay. Tom Handley helped the Sophomore cause along by winning both the 70 yard high hurdles and the high jump. Tom jumped 5 feet 5 inches for one of the best performances of the day. Herman Menezs making his first try as a miler negotiated the distance in the good time of 4 minutes and 55 seconds.

The lightweight meet was completely dominated by the Sophomores. Legare McNeill racked up 14 points for the Sophomores to cop high scoring honors. McNeill won the 75 yard dash, the discus, anchored the relay team, and placed second in the 140 yard dash. The Freshman and 8th grade ran as an entry in the meet and placed second with 48 points. Out standing work by Al Freen and Jim Moran accounted for the fine showing of Frosh-Eigth combination. Moran broad jumped nearly 19 feet while Green ran a brilliant 150 yard dash.

GOLF FOR ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Wednesday, March 17, the annual St. Patrick's Day Golf Tournament will take place at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club. The losing team will buy dinner for the winners. C. V. Myers will captain the Kellys, while Dr. Hugh Dormody is Cohen team captain. Entries are being taken at the Club caddie house.

WOODY LAMB LEAVING

A new caddymaster reported for work last week at Cypress Point, Joe Solas of Monterey. Former assistant pro and caddymaster Woody Lamb, Monterey Peninsula golf champion, intends to leave the Peninsula soon and join the ranks of playing pros. If Lamb remains here for the State tournament in May, he should prove to be a threat to the best entrants. He recently scored a 68 at Del Monte and has broken par on many occasions at both Cypress Point and Pebble Beach.

GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Qualifying round for the annual Pebble Beach Championship for Women at Pebble Beach will be played March 17,, and match paly, flights of 16, will commence Thursday. Entries will be accepted until Monday at Tournament Headquarters, Del Monte Lodge.

80 BOYS PARTICIPATING IN SPRING SPORTS

With the basketball togs stowed in mothballs until next November, attention of Carmel athletes will center on baseball, track, golf, and tennis for the next three months. Twenty boys are making bids for positions on the baseball nine, while over forty tracksters have answered Coach Byrne's call for lightweight and varsity cinder berths. Coach Westover has 10 golfers touring the Pebble Beach links every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon. A dozen tennis addicts are striving for places on Coach Reyburn's racket squad.

Returning lettermen for baseball are Phil Wettengel, Gene Vandervort, Lee Winslow, Lew McCreery, Art Harber, Paul Warner, Pat Dormody, Newt Goodrich, and Dick Weer. Supplementing the lettermen will be Walt Frey, Dick Sumner, Neils Reimers, Denicio Narvaez, Bill Daniels, Les Bracisco, Paul Artellan, Charles May, Bill Varien, and Henry Meyers.

How to Put Up with Women's Styles

When Will Dudley's missus finally gave in to the new-style longer skirts, Will was mighty critical at first. Allowed as how women were a slave to fashion . . . ought to dress to please their husbands and not style designers.

Sue finally reminded Will of his habit of sitting by the radio Saturday afternoons in shirt sleeves and old slippers, listening to the sportcasts with a mellow glass of beer. Suggested that maybe Will was a slave to comfort.

And Will admitted she was right.

Perhaps the way somebody dresses isn't always to our taste—just as Will's glass of beer may be another person's cider.

But from where I sit, those little differences aren't important—unless we go out of our way to make them so, by being hypercritical. As Will says now: "Well, anyway, those long skirts hide a multitude of shins" . . . and lets it go at that!

A.A.U.W. Invites Public To Hear Paul Speegle Speak

Paul Speegle, radio commentator of the San Francisco Chronicle, will speak on Lo the Poor Commentator, in Sunset auditorium next Wednesday evening, March 17, at 8:15 at a public meeting sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Branch of the American Association of University Women. Mr. Speegle is not unkown here, as he appeared on the stage with the Del Monte Players a few years ago in The Front Page and received very favorable notice. He has been active in amateur dramatics practically all his life.

He entered Stanford University at the age of sixteen, and after taking his degree studied at Hastings Law School, took his degree, and "practiced the stuff" for four years. He undertook to crash Hollywood, which turned the tables on him, and he retired to the Chronicle for ten years as the movie reviewer, and has also been a radio actor and commentator. He had time out for four years in the Army Air Force and since his service, has been the radio columnist for nearly two years.

His pet peeves are the singing commercial and the soap opera, two subjects upon which he speaks with feeling. The A.A.U.W. invites the public to hear him present his observations and experiences in radio work.

A hungry burglar broke into Hillyer's Coffee Shop at San Carlos and Ocean during the night of March 4, and helped himself to a tuna sandwich, a piece of pie, and half a bowl of potato salad. He then fled, presumably full and satisfied, taking two dollars in nickels from the cash register. He left untouched another dollar's worth of nickels and a few hundred pennies. Come to think of it, how many tuna sandwiches will so small a sum buy these days?

Three persons, hot on the heels of a fire engine, pressed a little too closely Sunday and found themselves cited by Carmel police for following or interfering with a fire engine. They paid fines of $10 apiece. Cited were: Affonso Greene, Carmel, Marvin Tierney, Monterey, and Newton H. Court, San Francisco. They got off lightly, for Judge George P. Ross, of the Carmel City Court, warned that in the future the fine for such an offense will be $25.

The fire occured at a residence on Junipero near 8th. Someone had left a roast burning in the oven.

The dogs are going to Carmel. Three of them took a tour through the business district this week, with expenses paid by their owners in the form of $10 fines each. The owners are Leonard J. Cosky, Sr., Mrs. Elyse S. Hopkins, and Wilfred E. White.

Mrs. Millicent J. Gilder of Carmel was slightly injured Sunday in an accident involving her car and that of Mrs. William O. Garin, also of Carmel. Mrs. Gilder struck her chin on the steering wheel. No doctor was sent for, as she said she would call one after arriving home. The accident occurred at the corner of Monte Verde and Eleventh.

Steve Patterson's New Building On Sixth Completed

Steve Patterson's new building on Sixth Avenue, started in September, is now completed, and Steve can be justly proud of it. The building is located right next to Steve's old hangout, the Chop House. Painted in creamy pink, it is new, functional, modern in every way, even to the point of flower filled patios.

Upstairs are 13 roomy offices most of them with views, and some of them opening out on the upstairs patio, furnished with tables and chairs, heather plants, blooming camellias, ferns, and post-card perfect ocean view. Dr. Ernest Stratton of San Francisco, architect Thomas S. Elston, Jr., Dr. R. M. McArthur from Napa, and Dorothy Ellen Newcomb with a Gyroducing salon, are some of the people renting upstairs offices. Downstairs are three shops housing Harriet Duncan's Ladies' Specialty Shop, Branson's Men's Shop, and Dr. Florence Munger's electro therapy.

Robert Miller Principal Speaker For Atomic Week

Robert D. Miller, chief electrical engineer for the San Francisco Navy Yard, and one of the civilian observers at the Bikini A-Bomb test, will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting in the Sunset School auditorium at 8 p.m. April 2.

Miller's subject will be Operation Crossroads and What it Means to You and Me. Miller will not only cover facts about the Bikini test, but will discuss constructive uses of atomic energy in the fields of industry, medicine and transportation.

Miller's talk is sponsored by a group of local citizens who believe in the importance of bringing information about atomic energy to the public. Chairman of the group is Zenas L. Potter.

The group hopes to sponsor other speakers who are prominent in the field of atomic research, in two other meetings to be held in Monterey and Pacific Grove during Atomic Energy Information Week, between March 29 and April 4.

C.M.C. CONCERT POSTPONED

The Carmel Music Society has had to postpone its originally scheduled piano recital by Benno Moiseiwitsch from March 16 to March 23. Moiseiwitsch who was born in Odessa, Russia, and is now a British subject, won the Rubinstein Prize at the age of nine and made his London debut at the age of 18. Since then he has enjoyed a series of triumps in Europe, America and the Orient. During the war he gave more than 800 concerts in bombed-out halls during air raids in England, donating the proceeds of most of these to war relief. When he appears in Carmel his program will include Bach, Beethoven, Rachmaninoff and Brahms.

Jenkins Deplores Lag In Reaching Red Cross Quota

A call of distress issued this week from the Carmel Red Cross office. A mere $5,000 of the $14,605 quota has been reached, to the dismay of Mathew Jenkins, chairman of the drive in Carmel, who says that by this time last year the 1947 quota had been filled.

Jenkins gave two reasons for the lag in this year's drive: first, the delay on the part of many block workers to report to the office, and second, the fact that letters were not sent out asking for donations two weeks in advance of the drive.

The need for funds this year is as great as it has ever been, says Jenkins. The National goal is $75,000,000 and it must be reached this month. Jenkins urges all block workers to solicit every house in their districts.

Last year Carmel was the first city in the state to fill its quota. But this year, unless there is a decided increase in donations, the quota will not be reached.

Palo Alto Man Found Dead In Rooming House

Walter Haskins Packard, 41, Palo Alto pharmacist, was found dead in his room at a Carmel guest house, Saturday. He was in bed, the light burning, a paper back murder mystery apparently half read, in his hand. Coroner has not yet found the cause of death since autopsy tests had not been completed Thursday.

Fellow lodgers noticed that Packard appeared depressed the day preceding his death. He arrived Thursday, riding down from Palo Alto with a friend.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, and daughter, Pamela Ann, both of Palo Alto; his mother, Mrs. Jeanette Packard of Corcoran, and brother, Ira Packard of San Francisco.

Hi Chatter...

By PEGGY RIKER

Sponsored by the Girls' League, the Girls' Hi Jinx on March 18, 7:30 p.m., in the high school gym, promises to be the biggest affair of its kind in the history of the school. With mothers and daughters alike turning out in a wide variety of comical costumes, skits by every class and club, including the drama class' presentation of The Romancer, games with prizes for all, and, needless to say, delicious refreshments, the occasion should be not only enjoyable, but should act as a stimulus for uniting the mothers and daughters of all four classes. For the past few weeks the committee heads have been active organizing and planning to make this year's Hi Jinx an outstanding success. Those managing the various phases of work are: Betty Plaxton, who is the over-all manager of the affair; Sherlie Sousa, publicity chairman; Shirley Petty, chairman of the games committee; and Peggy Riker and Becky Bell, co-chairmen of the refreshment committee.

Last Friday the third awards assembly of the year was held in order to honor those boys and girls who have earned athletic

What's An Elector? For A While Giem Thinks He's Out

Gloom hung for several hours this week over the head of Harry Giem, candidate for a seat on the city council. Giem was told that because he had not voted in the primary or general elections in 1946 his name had been dropped from the list of registered voters, making him ineligible to run.

But Giem is back in the race. City Clerk Peter Mawdsley pointed out that a candidate is not requried to be a registered voter. He is only required to be an elector—one who possesses the legal right to vote if he so chooses—which of course Giem is.

The gloom is hereby dispelled.

right to carry through that program for handling the future growth and development of the District. This present movement for reorganization should be used for the benefit of small districts not be used in cases where it would operate to upset careful planning already done by individual districts. Carmel could suffer an irreparable set back by the submergence of its individual plans into a larger amalgamation and could lose entirely its present separate identity.

"It hasn't just happened! It has been created by the people of the community from the basic things that are fundamental to the community; and it is only just beginning. The next ten years will see a growth on the Monterey Peninsula that will tax every facility both of the Monterey Union High School and the Pacific Grove Unified School District, as well as the Carmel Unified School District."

The Board of Trustees believes that the principle of equalization in education is right, but this principle should not mean that a relatively small and wealthy community (in terms of wealth per pupil) such as Carmel, should be forced to subsidize a larger and poorer community, which would happen were Monterey and Pacific Grove to be united with Carmel. Such a plan of forcing unlike communities to join is not equalization.

A large amount of equalization is already in effect on a statewide basis, and that, as well as on a national basis, is where equalization should be so that the burden may be spread more equitably over a large tax base.

The Redistricting Commission, if it ever calls upon these three communities (Monterey, Carmel and Pacific Grove) to vote upon this question, will be using its power unjustly because it would place the community of Carmel at a disadvantage in that the voters of Monterey and Pacific Grove would stand to gain financially at the expense of Carmel, and to the probable detriment of the Carmel school children.

Next week the Pine Cone will print the Board's recommendations regarding consolidation with outlying districts.

New General Oil and Water Color Shows

By Nancy Lofton

Clarence Bates' golden bear carved from a redwood burl is the most interesting thing to me in the four new shows which opened this week in the Carmel Gallery. A new general oil show and a water color show were hung last Sunday and will remain on display until April 1. A one man show of the work of Catherine Seideneck opened this week also and is reviewed elsewhere in the Pine Cone.

The sculpture in the gallery this month is the first group to be chosen by jury. In the future sculpture submitted will be subject to the jury's choice and the pieces will be set on pedestals in the galleries.

The sculpture now on display is the work of Clarence Bates, Paul McReynolds, Fred Bacon, Nora Grabill, and Howell Armour. Sculptors are becoming almost as numerous on the peninsula as potters or painters and their work adds a new interest to the gallery shows.

Nora Grabill's tiny imaginative figures under bell jars are delightful. They might be Mary Austin's people come to life, considerably reduced, suggesting fern pockets under redwood branches and small sea caves chewed out at the water's edge. Paul McReynolds' abstract figure in a light warm wood has a ghostly quality about it which inspires a certain amount of awe, while the quality of the carving and the wood itself make your hands yearn to handle the sculpture and explore its graduated holes. Howell Armour's Tahitian figures are dark, totemic and menacing. Fred Bacon's Dryad has some very beautiful lines about it but ends up by being too literal, to my mind.

Both the water color and the oil show make a good impression. The work is varied and in many cases interesting. The show has been so well hung that no one picture stands out to any great degree. The key of the oil room particularly has been raised several tones. All the pictures look brighter and more lively. Marjorie Doolittle's portrait has character. Her composition has body and her palette variety. Leslie Buck's still life has the strong individuality her canvases always have. It is a bloodless, calm, controlled and acrid painting with the curious putty tones she likes.

Jeanette Lewis' little landscape with tumbled houses is vigorous and healthy, and Sam Harris, Richard Lofton, Florence True, Leslie Emery, John Cunningham, Paul Mays, George Seideneck, Kent Daniells, Margaret Levick, Frank Moore, Sophie Harpe, Kay Rodgers, William Ritschel, Thomas McGlynn, Hoyland Bettinger, John O'Shea, Nell Walker Warner, Dorothy Wahlgren, De Neale Morgan, Rama Stearns, Frank Myers and Ferdinand Burgdorff are each represented by a canvas chosen by jury to make up the oil show.

In the water color show the pictures by James Vance, Rollin Pickford, Jr., Sam Colburn and Leon Amyx are outstanding. Each of these pictures seems to me characterized by freedom and facility and good organization. Others, among the work of Herbert Olsen, Pauline Pierson, Hoyland Bettinger, Warren Chase Merritt, William Ritschel, William Watts, Harold Helvenston, Henrietta Shore and Donna Davis also have interest.

There's New Glamour in the Way it Goes

TAKE the glamour of its tapered gracefulness for granted, if you will. One glance tells you it's tops.

Take an inside peek at its newly fashioned interiors—and see if you're not dazzled by the luxury that greets your eyes.

But wait—just wait—till you learn what makes this banner beauty run off with the year's high honors on the highway. Dollars to drachmas—you'll fairly itch to get in and GO!

For now your right foot commands a Fireball power plant that's as eager as a panther on the prowl—yet is so quieted in purr and pulse you barely sense its telltale throb.

Now you slip through traffic or light out cross-country as relaxed as a baby with his bottle—in a body that's bountifully big, cozily cushioned, and insulated against the usual noises of traveling.

Now you experience the first scientific system ever devised to shield a car's ride against road noise, shake and the vibration build-up that previously took advantage of an automobile's tendency to play sound box.

Now you ride the washboard roads and cobbles as though they were carpet—thanks to coil springs all around—plus extra-low-pressure tires, carried on Buick's own wider, more stable Safety-Ride rims.

And last but best, if a Roadmaster's your choice, you can enjoy the really effortless driving—in a new kind of drive that not only frees you of gear-shifting, but that doesn't even shift itself!

It's Dynaflow Drive*—a drive that's devoid of all halt, lag and hesitation through all speed ranges—because here, for the first time, the power plant itself does what gears used to do.

Fact is, you'll find the new Buick sparkling with more than a score of new advances—in ten brilliant models that span three series and give you your choice of three wheelbases and four power ratings.

So why dally? Here, certainly, is the dilly of the year for smartness and roominess—for the newest in driving ease and riding relaxation—and for all those basic bounties that are forever Buick's.

Place your order with your dealer now—whether or not you have a car to trade—and hasten the day when you'll reach those motoring heights you hanker for.

*Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster models only.

St. Louis Sinfonietta Concert

By Eben Whittlesey

The final concert of the Monterey Peninsula Community Concert Series in Pacific Grove last Saturday proved to be an interesting and thoroughly enjoyable variation on the usual round of soloists, vocal and instrumental, generally available for such programs as are brought to this community. The St. Louis Sinfonietta under the direction of Paul Schreiber is a well balanced, highly trained concert orchestra in miniature, which during the past few seasons has been travelling to an ever-widening group of cities and towns which are off the beaten track of the great symphony orchestras.

The first part of the program comprised three works from among the older classics; Arioso by Bach, the overture from Iphiggenia in Aulis by Gluck, and the London Symphony No. 2 by Haydn. All of these were selections particularly well suited to an orchestra of 18 or 20 pieces and were performed with a high degree of technichal finish and precision of ensemble execution. The Bach, was a little restrained in feeling, while the execution of the Gluck selection was excellent.

In the Haydn work it seemed that the first violins were not as smoothly coordinated as in other parts of the program. The rapid passages appeared to lack feeling, perhaps because of too much attention to perfect execution. There was a sluggish atmosphere throughout this work, and we missed the sparkle which makes Haydn so refreshing despite his eighteenth century formalism.

Gertrude Hopkins, as harp soloist, gave a charming and polished interpretation of Ravel's Introduction and Allegro. The enshusiastic response of the audience was rewarded with two encores, Chinese Oriental Dance by Cady, and The Music Box. The soloist exhibited excellent timing, and a sparkling, clear-cut interpretation. We do not hear enough harp solos. They are especially charming against the background of a small and well trained orchestral group such as this.

At this point the program moved into the contemporary idiom with Guaracha and Pavonne by Morton Gould, five concert miniatures by Paul White, and the Emperor Waltz by Strauss. Morton Gould's works for strings are highly finished, spirited and conservative in their modernism. The selections were well handled by the orchestra. The three hundred people in the audience were delighted with the humorous Paul White novelty, featuring a most realistc imitation of a mosquito.

The Emperor Waltz is such a fulblooded, exuberant work that one cannot help missing the sweep and power of the full orchestra. Enthusiastic applause was rewarded by three encores, selections from Showboat by Kern, Hora Stoccata, and the delightful polka by Shostakovitch. The cumulative impression of the program as a whole was that the conductor has sacrificed creative interpretation, vigor and warmth in the interest of perfect discipline and highly finished ensemble technique. One might have enjoyed less polish and more emotional freedom.

GRAVES PICTURES

On Monday evening, March 15, C. Edward Graves will give the last of the series of ten programs on Appreciation of Nature. The first half will cover the northwestern coast country of California from Humboldt County to Lake County, following roughly the route of the Redwood Highway. The last half will cover the Monterey Peninsula.

These programs have been presented by the Carmel Adult School. They are free to the public and last from 7:30 to 9:30 with a ten minute intermission.

Voice Of Turtle Finds Receptive Audience Here

By RICHARD SUMNER

"For, lo, the winter is past"—and with the arrival of spring the curtain rose last Monday evening on the first stage production of the year in the Golden Bough Playhouse. The Voice of the Turtle, a definitely adult comedy, by John Van Druten, was staged and directed by Edward Kuster. Credit must be given to Mr. Theatre of Carmel for bringing us this presentation. It is believed to be the first time the play has been done by a non-professional group.

The cast of the play is made up of three people—Sally Middleton, the girl; Bill Page, the boy; and Olive Lashbrooke, the other woman. In the theatre as well as in life these three ingredients will thicken any plot. Bill Page was done by William Buckley and he gave a splendid and seemingly effortless performance. Ursula Halloran, who portrayed Sally, did it with verve and youthful enthusiasm. The briefer but choice role of Olive, played by Helen Credit must be extended to the production staff which included such familiar names as Lloyd Weer, Gabrielle Kuster, and Diane Tait. The theatre was dressed with its familiar charm and the audience was both receptive and warmly appreciative.

So winter is past "and the Voice of the Turtle is heard in our land." Lane, was an excellent bit of theatre.

HARRIET DUNCAN OPENS

Opening Saturday, March 13, is the Harriet Duncan shop on sixth, run by Miss Harriet Duncan who has managed the Van Raalte shop in Capwell's in Oakland for 16 years. The shop will be a ladies' specialty shop with quality accessories in hosiery, underwear, gloves, scarves, fascinating gadgets, sweaters, skirts, and causual sports wear. Miss Duncan says one of her main enthusiasms is to give personalized service, to help all women develop "their chic and beauty potential."

Miss Duncan plans to give fashion shows, have afternoon tea, and an appointment book to help friends meet on time.

VELLENGA ORIGINALS HERE

Opening his shop March 19 on Dolores and Sixth is Ted Dekker, who designs the Vellenga Originals which he will show in Carmel and which sell in smart shops all over the United States. The Carmel shop is going to be done all in lush dark mossy green, with long drapes which will match the walls.

Mr. Dekker, who plans to make a permanent home on the Peninsula, was Boston educated, did professional dancing about the country, and for the last 12 years has been involved in interior decorating, being particularly fascinated with the problem of color psychology and the intricate usage of fabric.

Carmel Hills Soon To Open As Site For Attractive Homes

Carmel's newest land development is the Carmel Hills tract of rolling hillside, just north of the High School. After a year of intensive planning, it will soon be opened for restricted residential sites by the Carmel Land Company. Much of this new subdivision overlooks Carmel Valley, and several sites afford views of the Pacific and the rugged coastline.

In charge of contour plans and consultant on the wide, well paved roads is the landscape-architect Thomas D. Church. The clearing and trimming of numerous oaks and pines is supervised by Everett Smith, a former mayor of Carmel. In close cooperation with technitions of the Monterey County Planning Commission, the Carmel Land Company—which has operatted for some 25 years—has made certain of full compliance with all zoning regulations covering the area.

Carmel Hills was planned to establish an unusually attractive residential community of outstanding homes, architecturally controlled—to be designed by the best of local architects. Also, negotiations are now proceeding with several internationally known architects, each of which will design a distinctive home for the new tract.

The roads have been dedicated to the County, according to Mr. Ernie Schweninger, who has been with the Carmel Land Company since its inception, and is still its sales manager. Home sites will be about four times the size of the average Carmel lot.

Peninsula Towns Invited To Valley Sunrise Service

Carmel Valley's first Easter Sunrise service will be held on a flat-topped knoll commanding a beautiful view of the Valley. A large rustic cross and altar are to be erected, beneath which worshippers will assemble at 6 p.m. on Easter Sunday.

The service is being planned by a committee sponsored by the two civic groups in the community—The Carmel Valley Business and Professional Association and the Robles del Rio Improvement Club.

An interdenominational Christian program is being arranged by Rev. Douglass Decherd and Rev. Harold Lockwood, president and secretary respectively of the Monterey Peninsula Ministerial Association. Miss Lucile Valpey, organist of the Presbyterian Church, will provide the music.

The Valley Committee invites all persons on the Monterey Peninsula to attend the services, which will be held near the end of Laurel Drive on the property of the Rancho del Monte Subdivision. If daylight savings should become effective, time of services will be one hour later.

Dr. Billie's Garden

By L. A. W.

Probably it's all wrong but the temptation was too great, or I was too weak. Anyway, three pounds of Red Bliss potatoes are now in the ground. With two eyes to a piece they cut into enough for exactly fifty hills. In three months time, with a ten or twelve to one yield, there should be about 30 pounds of good eating. At currant prices that would be—? Oh, well, lets not go too far; it's too much like that chicken business.

Then there's the matter of cabbage, broccoli and cauliflower. The seeds for these have been sown, and in six to eight weeks there will be a job of transplanting to the garden. By the way, the Royal Purple cauliflower is a honey.

Speaking of the cabbage family, there is kohl-rabi, one of the family freaks. Grows like a cabbage, looks like a turnip, and tastes like-kohl-rabi. The seeds I planted last fall have done so well the plants will have to be thinned out soon. Anybody like some?

The other day when Bess and I were visiting our nursery man I saw he had some good, plump onion sets. Now some of them are in the garden along with some of the multiplier variety given me by a friend. Right alongside these are the garlic cloves—all the fragrance gathered in one spot. Does anyone know where shallot bulbs can be bought? They are the mild, French version of garlic. you know.

A row of French Forcing carrots is in and one of Early Egyptian beets. The Romaine lettuce plants are transplanted, sixteen of them. Spinach and swiss chard will go in right away. Only a short row of the latter this year. In the past we have had so much, I've been a nuisance to the neighbors in trying to get rid of it.

The calendar says that early February is the time to sow green peas. We like Mammoth Podded, Alderman, Fordhook. These all grow to about eighteen inches tall and so do not have to be staked or "brushed." So about every three weeks now for a couple of months a double row of peas is the planting order.

Just in the hope of an early crop I sowed tomato seeds a couple of weeks ago. I saw that Ben Reisner up in Alameda has been breeding a new tomato adapted to cool, foggy, coastal growing conditions. He calls it Number 52. I am trying it out along with Pearson and Bounty. If the nights keep as cold as they have been I may have my labor for my pains. That's all right. Guess I can gamble that much in my old age.

By the way, I am using the new soil-conditioner for my germination boxes. The directions say half garden soil and half conditioner. How this stuff does take and hold water. I am trying it out also as a material in which to start fuchsia and pelargonium cuttings. (Oh! Oh! Poaching again on Kippy's preserves. Sorry.)

Water! Water! Please!

Realtors Appoint Temporary Officers For Carmel Board

Carmel realtors have joined in setting up a permanent organization to be known as the Carmel Realty Board, of which Gladys Johnson and Wanda Leslie are temporary chairman and secretary, respectively

At a meeting held Monday at the Pine Inn, Gladys Johnson presided and appointed Arthur Shand, Virgina Le Mon and Enos Farrat to a nominating committee which will present a slate of permanent officers to be voted on in a future meeting.

Barnet Segal is chairman of the by-laws and constitution committee.

The Carmel realtors plan to set up as a public service an arbitration and appraisal committee.

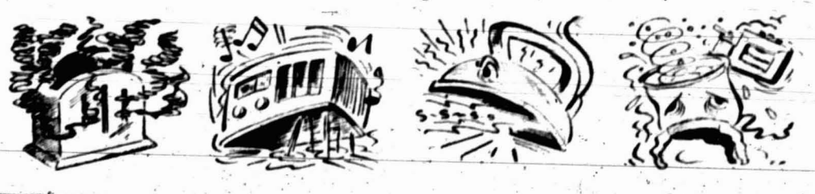
8 WAYS to Save Electricity in Your Home

Seemingly small savings of electricity in your home today are more important than you may realize. Because every time you let a light burn needlessly or flip a switch and allow an appliance to run idly, it puts additional "load" on electric lines. Your extra use, multiplied by thousands of other homes, adds up tremendously. And at the other end of these lines, a generator must meet that load, using hundreds of gallons of precious water per minute. And because of the prolonged drought and extremely light snow pack in the mountains, the conservation of water is even more vital to the general welfare.

Watch Wasteful Use of Lighting and Save Electricity

1. FLICK OFF... lights when you leave a room.
2. TURN OFF... all lights you don't really need.
3. CHECK FOR... lights burning in unused rooms.
4. IT'S EASY... to forget porch and garage lights.

And Watch Wasteful Use of Appliances Too...



5. BURNED TOAST Toast that goes up in smoke wastes bread...electricity.
6. RAMBLING RADIOS Radios left to ramble on without listeners shorten tube life and waste electricity.
7. SIZZLING IRONS Irons that get "too hot" scorch clothes and waste electricity.
8. WEARY WASHERS Washing machines that run idly wear out sooner and waste electricity.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE TO BUSINESS MEN:
You can help save the day. The Public Utilities Commission's electric conservation regulations provide for a ten per cent reduction in use by stores, shops, restaurants and all business establishments. Rules prohibit illumination of advertising signs, flood lighting, show window lighting, etc., but we ask you not to stop there. Pull the switch on every circuit not vitally necessary. Cut down load in every part of your plant in the public interest.

REMEMBER – ELECTRICITY SAVED IS WATER CONSERVED!

Calla Lilies

In any part of the country that is not California, the Calla Lily is looked upon as an exotic. Eastern florists make much of the Calla and charge a whacking good price for one potted bulb. Visitors to California are astonished to see our hedges of the stately Calla and many visitors take bulbs back east to grow in their gardens. Their efforts are futile for the Calla belongs to California.

But like all treasured things that become common, California gardeners are prone to neglect the Calla and take it for granted. The result of neglect is scrawny, unkempt plants. Right at this time you can look into almost any garden where Callas are grown and view a sad picture. The fronds, that should be a vivid green, are yellow and brown; the blooms, that should be pure white with velvet texture, leathery with a yellowish tinge, and the edges of the blooms are ruffled. Many gardeners check this bad condition off to frost, but in my seven years experience with Calla Lilies, frost has never disturbed them. Several years ago I too attributed the bad condition of my Callas to frost. Enter the expert gardener. This erudite gentleman whipped out his pocket magnifying-glass, turned a Calla leaf over, and there by the thousands lay clusters of the busy little aphides. Ttogether we cut all the damaged foliage and blooms and hurried them to the incinerator. I learned from this expert that infected cuttings must be burned; infected cuttings must never be tossed about. There wasn't much of my Callas left, but what remained received a generous spray of nicotine and in this instance, one spraying was sufficient. In a short time new Calla fronds appeared; the fronds were sturdy and green; the blooms, that came after spraying, were superb.

Calla lilies, aside from their beauty, can be a manace to any garden. Once planted, a Calla bulb will multiply to astronomical figures, and when once planted, I defy anyone to eradicate the Calla Lily. The new gardener has no idea what he is doing when laying out his first garden. You see, I know, because a few years back, I was just that, a new gardener. I stuck Calla bulbs next to camelias, azaleas, roses and fuchsias; I lined my eugenia hedge with Callas. The result was that Callas crowded out all other plants, stole all the food and literally ran the other plants off the place. For the past few years I have been digging Callas and placing them away off younder by themselves. When digging a Calla, you think you have got him, but clinging to the once single bulb are literally hundreds of small corms. Many of these small corms break off and remain in the soil. I have dug down as far as two feet to catch the fellow, then in a few years would be a mammoth bulb, on his way to crowd out other plants. I expect to be digging out Callas from unwanted places for the rest of my life.

Section 1. That Section 990, Article 2, Division 1, Part X of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 990. Site Regulations. Every Single-Family Dwelling, together with its permitted Accessory Buildings, hereafter erected, shall be provided with a Building Site consisting of one of the following:

(a) A lot of record as of the 4th day of February, 1948, having an area of not less than 2500 square feet, except a lot of record of 2500 square feet which on the 4th day of February, 1948, was in the same ownership as one or more adjoining lots of record having a like area of 2500 square feet.

(b) A parcel of land in the form of a rectangle having an area of not less than 3750 feet and a street frontage of not less than 37.5 feet consisting of portions of lots of record as of the 4th day of February, 1948, each of which had an area of 2500 square feet.

(c) A parcel of land in the form of a rectangle having an area of not less than 4000 square feet and a street frontage of not less than 50 feet.

(d) Any other parcel of land having an area of not less than 4000 square feet provided the Carmel Planning Commission has issued a Use Permit authorizing the use of such parcel as a Building Site in the manner provided by Article 8 of this Division."

Section 2. That all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance be, and they are hereby repealed.

Section 3. The City Clerk of said City is hereby instructed to cause this ordinance to be published once in the Carmel Pine Cone, the official newspaper of said City within fifteen (15) days after its final passage and approval.

CERTIFICATION OF CITY CLERK

I, the undersigned, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 81 N. Critical Audience Enthralled By Marian Anderson's Concert Here

BY EBEN WHITTLESEY

Last week the audience which filled every available seat in Sunset Auditorium for the first appearance in Carmel of Marian Anderson, on the Carmel Music Society Series, was moved to an enthusiasm and unanimity of response unusual among our rather hypercritical music lovers. And why not, for that audience was under the spell not only of one of the world's really great artists, but of a warm and vibrant personality whose sincerity and gracious bearing infused every selection on the widely varied program.

Miss Anderson is gifted not only with a rare and beautiful voice which is consistent in its quality throughout its long range from the thrilling low contralto tones to its upper pitch well into the sphere of the mezzo soprano, but also with a personal magnetism that spans the footlights and communicates itself compellingly to her hearers. Her fine carriage, lovely dress, and personal dignity, which was always gracious, never cold or distant, made a visual impression which was a fitting complement of her surpassing vocal achievement.

The program was varied enough for any taste, and reflected a development in the artist's center of interest, which is no longer in the field of Negro spirituals, but has rather shifted to the Italian and German composers. The first group opened with Floridante and the Serse recitative and aria by Handel, the latter showing great lightness and flexibility. These were followed by Se L'Aura Spira by Frescobaldi, and Che Fiero Costume by Legrenzi, in which the dynamic quality and clarity of tone of the singer began really to appear.

The second group, composed wholly of Schubert songs, not only brought forth a more varied and flexible interpretation of mood content, but a real dramatic sense, particularly in Der Doppelganger and Der Erlkonig. The former was to me one of the high points of the evening, characterised by wonderful control of tone production and delicate modulation. In the latter selection Franz Rupp handled his accompaniment with great dramatic feeling, and a zest which was stimulating. Throughout the performance he provided fine support for the artist, and evinced a fine understanding of the works with which he dealt. Der Erlkonig was followed by Shubert's Die Forelle as an encore, providing a vivid contrast with its light and lilting melodic line and giving scope to the singer's unusually fine high tones.

The high point of the evening from the dramatic standpoint was reached in Ne Me Refuse Pas from Massenet's Herodiade. Here we felt an impelling emotional power and conviction born of true dramatic perception. Perhaps the contralto voice is capable of communicating a greater intensity of feeling than other voices, but at any rate this selection stirred me greatly. The encore, Comin' Through the Rye, which closed the first half of the program, was a splendid choice by way of contrast.

A group of folk songs followed the intermission, including Velvet Shoes, There Shall be More Joy, arranged by Nordoff, and Orpheus With His Lute by Schuman. All of these brought forth a lightness of touch, vivacity and clarity of tone unusual in a voice of low range. Outstanding was Yarmouth Fair, which closed the group. The Nightingale was a fitting encore at this point.

The audience which had waited eagerly for Negro spirituals was amply rewarded in the last group with Nobody Knows the Trouble I seen, and other well-beloved songs. The high point of this phase of the concert was reached in Crucifixion, which epitomised the simple and deeply emotional reverence of the Negro. Three final encores No Hidin' Place Down There, Will O The Wisp and the Schubert Ave Maria completed the generous program.

There is an effortless quality, a perfect sense of timing, a skill in attack and release about Miss Anderson's singing which is continually fascinating. One never feels that she has reached the limit of her range at either end, and her pianissimo has a velvet softness. The evening's experience was one to treasure.

How we write the
"BEST-READ
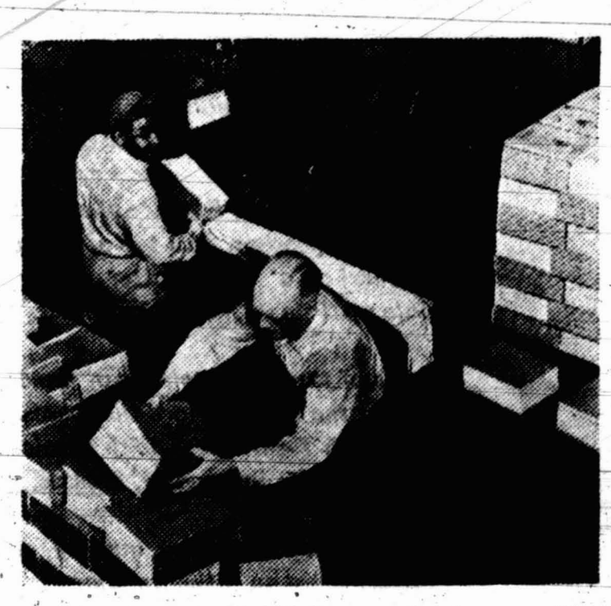
IN TOWN"

1. Check...check and check again — that's how we guard the accuracy of your telephone book. It's a job for specialists, like those above, skilled in working with masses of names and numbers. Others give new numbers to information operators the morning following installation of a telephone.



2. High-speed binders and trimmers like this are kept busy turning out finished directories. We issue 99 different telephone books on the Coast—a total printing of more than 6,000,000 copies a year. And in addition to the daily lists, completely new directories are printed frequently for information operators.

3. It's always handy — there when you need it. Providing this service is an immense job. For example, the paper we used last year would fill three mile long freight trains. Yet publishing directories is just one of many things we do to furnish the best possible service to the West.

Millions of new working dollars... needed to extend and improve service...must come, not from telephone bills, but from thousands of people who put their savings to work in the telephone business. To attract these working dollars, we must pay a reasonable amount for their use. This depends on the sale of our services at fair and adequate prices.

THE SHORT BIBLE

By Edward O. Sisson

Nearly fifteen years ago the University of Chicago issued the original edition of The Short Bible. This admirable work is now republished by the Modern Library, at the astonishing price of $1.25. To anyone who takes the Bible seriously — and every intelligent person should — but who has not studied it seriously—and not one in fifty does—this little volume is worth ten times its cost.

Into its preparation has gone the finest scholarship of our times: the editors, Professor Edgar J. Goodspeed, and the late Professor J. M. Powis Smith, both of the University of Chicago, stand at the very top in knowledge of the New and Old Testaments respectively. Dr. Goodspeed is the author of An American Translation of the New Testament, which I do not doubt many readers are acquainted with. Associated with them is a group of eminent scholars, each an expert on the book or books with which he deals.

I must add at once that this little Short Bible is full of shocks as well as unfamiliar truths. The reason for this is the almost incredible ignorance of the vast majority of people, including the bible readers themselves, even of earnest church members, concerning the real nature and contents of the Bible itself. I can speak freely of this, for I was in this very state up to early manhood, and escaped from my ignorance only by dint of years of study and no small perturbation of spirit —having taken the Bible very seriously indeed. I say "escaped from my ignorance," but mean only that I discovered a few of the most basic and vital facts and am still ignorant on all finer detailed questions; even though I did pretty well master one of the two languages in which the Bible was written—Greek.

For the Bible is not a book, but a host of "books," a sort of library or anthology; written by many men of many diverse opinions and purposes, over many centuries, in many places, some very distant from each other. Not all the writers were Hebrews, although the great majority were. In many cases the actual records give no inkling who the writer was, not even his name being handed down. To make this worse, tradition, in the form of copyists who transcribed from older records or even from word of mouth, often provided an author's name, without any proof, to add prestige and authority to the book.

I do not here touch the question of inspiration, as it is called in theological discussion. Most of the Bible taken by itself makes no claim to any divine guidance; indeed, I do not know a single book in the new testament that does so. The scholars who worked in the making of this Short Bible were profound researchers, and used the fruits of all the research of the long centuries behind them. It is important to remember too that they are not merely scholars, but are earnest and devout Christians, who have given their lives to religious education. We are bound to credit them with sincerity as well as competence, even if we disagree with some of their findings.

If you question my statement concerning our ignorance of the Bible, let me propose one or two questions, a sort of quiz, which you can apply to yourself: first, how many accounts of creation are found in the Bible? And if more than one, are they in complete or substantial agreement? Next, is there any book in the Bible in which God is not mentioned? (If there is, read it and wonder how it got in! Remember that the chapter headings are not part of the work, but were added centuries later by "scribes"). Third, is this in the Bible: "A man has no preeminence over a beast; . . . All go unto one place; all are of the dust, and all turn to dust again."? But do not take this test seriously, unless you pass it. Even if you miss every question, you are still on a level with at least ninety percent of intelligent people.

The Short Bible is very short: my rough estimate is that it is not more than a fifth as long as the whole Bible as we ordinarily have it. Part of the cutting is of the nature of expurgation: if you are in doubt of the need for this, it is just another symptom of our general ignorance. But most of the omission is of matter which is completely obsolete, indeed almost meaningless, to people living today. (This is, of course, less true for "practicing" Jews.) Quite naturally, the Old Testament is cut down far more drastically than the New: in the standard version the Old Testament is more than three times as long as the New; in this Short Bible, each gets about the same space. (I cannot escape the conviction that the binding up of the Hebrew scriptures, the Old Testament, in the same cover with the Christian, the New Testament, is one of the great blunders of religious history. I assume that a Jew would feel the same way.)

This Short Bible is based upon what might be called the University of Chicago version, the result of many years of labor of the most competent scholars in both Hebrew and Greek, and embodying the results of the most modern research. This is, in the first place, a new translation, whereas even the so-called "revised" versions of the Bible still held close to the King James version. This new translation has two main virtues: it is much more faithful to the original, and it is in modern English. Consequently many passages take on new meaning, and indeed not a few passages which are completely obscure in the standard version become clear and understandable. This, unfortunately, is bound to repel some readers, at least until they get accustomed to the very different sound of familiar passages. I can only assure any reader that the new light is often of the highest importance, and is worth any pains its unfamiliarity may cause.

One of the most valuable features of the Short Bible is the inclusion of an introductory note to each book, telling the most important facts as to time of composition, circumstances, authorship, etc. The books are arranged in the most probable chronological order, and this order will be full of surprises to most readers. In place of Genesis, at the top of the Old Testament list, we find Amos, followed immediately by Hosea and Micah, with Genesis away down in the twentieth place. In the New Testament, nine of Paul's letters precede the earliest gospel, Mark. Revelation is far from the end, being followed by nine or ten other books.

There are many surprises on the authorship of some of the books of the Bible. In many cases the books were written long after the death of the men whom they have been attributed by tradition, as embodied in the standard version. This is the case of the so-called Books of Moses; and of the Psalms of David. Perhaps the most interesting case in this respect is the Letter to the Hebrews, attributed in the King James version to Paul. But we read here, that it was written "by some great unknown". Still more surprising is that it was sent to the Christians at Rome. Here, as I must confess at a good many points, I feel that the book is too short; that the editors should have given us another page of explanation, as to how the Letter ever came to be named as it is,—to the Hebrews. Still, one need not be an expert critic to see that the style of thought and language of the "great unknown" is quite different from that of Paul. We can agree too, with the editors when they call this book "a great oration," . . . in sustained rhetorical power unsurpassed in the New Testament.

We read in the Preface of "a cultivated lady (who) remarked that she had always supposed the Bible was to look up references in. It is too true that many people actually know no other use for it. Its size, variety and obscurity bewilder them." For any such, and indeed for most of us, this Short Bible will be a sort of first aid. Some preconceptions and convictions will be shaken and, we must hope, given up; but new light and unsuspected values will more than compensate.

EVENING IN A WOOD

The sun's heel gashes the madrone
With a red wound; above, below,
The shadows thicken, certain, slow;
The clumps and groves which stood alone,
Each tree a name, now blend as one.

The shadows spread and scar the wound
With solid fingers, and no mark
Is left, now all the wood is dark;
The green of day when day was round
Is like a splotch close to the ground.

The shadows join and, silent, pray,
No stir of wind, no single bird
Protests, no day-time speech is heard;
The sun-brewed odors of the day
From grass and tree, too, pass away.

—Alex R. Schmidt.

CHRONOS

Did the old earth appear to pause
And for an hour stand still?
Did you think all sidereal laws
Commuted to your will?
Then spin again at astral pace
Unhappy dreamer, spin again
Toward Vega through a clockwork space
Again, Again, Again—
You know no place is where it was
And no time constant anywhere
Except the now that always is Exactly neither here nor there.

—J. S. Moodey.

POLYHEDRAL CITY

City with misty eyes, city with several faces, juggling sun, mumbling moon,
is Atlas balancing goblets on toadstools;
jangling bones of headless men.

Corner the rabbit. Butcher the lamb.
Bag the possum. Salt the sparrow's tail.
Potpourri on a single platter.
Pile up. Pile up, death, pell-mell.

Spokes of fingers on wheels of hands.
Count the lucre, ignore the losses.
Music with flesh. Flesh with music.
Pile up. Pile up, neatly, crosses.

Look this way, that way, quickly, reveler.
Death pries an intimate door.
Pile up flowers in woven circles.
Today, tomorrow is but one day more.

—Frona Lane.

LOST DESTINY

A small, neglected town stands near the sea,
Her scattered buildings washed with writhing spray.
Houses, old shops with hopeless, tired faces,
And street signs pointing down an empty way.
She keeps unruffled calm, a studied pace,
No fretting for a fame she did not meet;
And, lifting high a graying head and proud,
She does not cringe accepting her defeat.

—Helene Helming.

Entertain Marian Anderson

Driving down from San Francisco and arriving Thursday afternoon in time for luncheon at Hollow Hills Farm with their host Noel Sullivan was Marian Anderson accompanied by her manager A. B. Jose, and her accompanist, Franz Rupp. In the evening, gowned in red and black interchangeable taffeta, Miss Anderson sang to a crowded hall at the Sunset School Auditorium. After the concert, a reception was given for the singer by Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous at their studio on North Dolores. Beautifully decorated to honor Miss Anderson, the studio was filled with begonias, purple tulips, and plum blossoms. Serving coffee and sandwiches were hostesses: Mrs. Richard Johnson, Carmen Mercante, and Mrs. Frances Dills. The guest list included: Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. B. Franklin Dixon, Mrs. A. M. Allan, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz T. Wurzmann, Lee Crowe and his mother, Mrs. Harry Crowe, Mr. Sullivan's niece, Miss Alice Dunne of Boston, Bill Kappy, Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Williams, Mrs. James H. Cooke, Dr. and Mrs. Howard Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ferrante, Dr. and Mrs. John Gratiot and daughter Junia, Mrs. R. R. Wallace, Miss Flora L. Stewart, Mrs. Carr Thatcher, Mrs. D. L. James, Mrs. Theodore Criley, Mrs. Paul Flanders, Mrs. Howard Johnson, Miss Mary Jepp, Miss Angie Machado, Mr. George How, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Marquard.

Miss Anderson and her friends spent the night as house guests of Hollow Hills Farm, then drove back to San Francisco early Friday morning.

Simmons Show

Carrying on with it's student series, the Carmel Art Shop presents an exhibition of paintings by Mr. Bert J. Simmons from March 6 through March 19, at the Seven Arts Court Gallery. Mr. Simmons is a student of Mr. Lee Randolph. The most interesting aspect of the show is the color technique Mr. Simmons has achieved in which each color seems to glow with luminous quality; light pours through the paint as though it came from rooted sources miles below the canvas. Especially in the paint Copper Kettle is this luminous glow apparent. The still lifes are smoothly done and the flower portraits have life. Interesting, too, are the countryside landscapes in which a faint but definite primitive effect is achieved in the houses, trees, barns and roads.

Starting March 20, the work of Miss Mabel Morgan, also student of Mr. Lee Randolph, will be shown for two weeks in the same gallery.

Birthday Celebration

Mrs. F. M. Lansdowne and her son Zackary Fenton returned to their home in San Diego, where Commander Lansdowne is stationed at present, on Saturday after a two weeks' visit with Mrs. Lansdowne's mother, Mrs. Fenton Girgsby. During her stay several informal affairs were given for her by old friends and the high point of the visit was the family celebration of Mrs. Lansdowne's birthday and that of her cousin, Mrs. Arthur Smiley, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Grigsby and their two little daughters came down from Piedmont to celebrate the two family events.

Back Home Again

Mrs. Carol Edwards has returned to Carmel after four months' trip back East to Portland, Maine, where she had lived during the thirty-nine years of her married life. After the death of her husband, the late George Thornton Edwards, author, composer, and poet, she came to Carmel to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Jack Camoles. Mrs. Edwards met many old time friends during her three weeks stay in Portland.

Thanksgiving and Christmas were spent in Atlanta, the home of her youngest son, Ted Edwards. Mr. Edwards drove her to Washington, D.C. From there Mrs. Edwards went on to New York to visit her son Thomas Edwards, thence to Portland, Maine, to see her third son Russell Edwards and his wife. They had quite a reunion at the old Edwards Homestead situated on the shore of the Casco Bay.

Continuing her travels, she journied on to Rochester, New York, her birthplace and girlhood home, where she saw many of her old friends, then went on through snowy weather to Boston to see more old acquaintances. In Cambridge, Mass., she visited Mrs. Harriet Parke, formerly of Carmel.

Duplicate Bridge Tournament

The final evening of the Spring series of Duplicate Bridge was held Tuesday at the Girl Scout House. The scoring of the entire group of players was very close and it was with great interest that the progress of each pair of players was noted as the tournament drew to a close. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Low took first honors with a score for the series of 519. Mrs. Irene and Mrs. Lion Boling were second with 508 while Mrs. Myrtle Ollinger and Mrs. Henry Leppert made 494½ for third place.

The two series of tournaments have been held for the benefit of the Carmel Woman's Club Building Fund and netted $200.00. Mrs. John Abernethy and Mrs. Fenton Grigsby sponsored the tournament. The entire list of players was: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Low, Miss Carrie Commings, Mr. Vechel Rigsby, Mr. Anton McDonald, Miss Amy Campbell, Mr. Alan Campbell, Mrs. Robert Jones, Mrs. Helen Beaumont, Mr. H. Aston, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bossardt, Mrs. Alice Hamilton, Mrs. Anne Vaugh, Mrs. Clark Cranston, Mrs. Helen Palmstag, Mrs. Myrtle Allinger, Mrs. Henry Leppert, Mr. and Mrs. Denny Rofer, Mrs. Claire Naftzger, Mrs. Clara Brownell, Mrs. Josephine Stephens, Mr. Arthur Smiley, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, Mr. Clement Trapkies, Mrs. M. B. Ruthrouff, Mrs. Fenton Grigsby, Miss Beulah Carrol, Mrs. Anton Schmatz, Mrs. Arre Holm, Mrs. Charles Berkey, Mrs. H. P. Underwood, Mrs. Robert Stanton, Sr., Mrs. Irene Conner, Miss R. Hubbard, Mrs. Donald Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Nuck, Mrs. Louis Terven, Sr., Mr. Louis Tervn, Jr., Mrs. Leon Boling, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sullivan, Mr. J. Randle, Mr.L. Henneken.

In cooperation with the power emergency the outside floodlights of the VILLAGE CORNER have been laid low, making things look dark indeed; but not the inside, as warm as ever, as brightly lit as ever. Floodlight or no floodlight, the VILLAGE CORNER is open every night until 11:30 p.m., seven nights a week.

Blum's Easter parade at LE GOURMET SHOP is a gay panorama of chi chi and frou frou, with pink ribboned Easter bonnets unlidded to pour forth candies, delicate Easter lily boxes packed with wafer thin mints, and fabulous colored eggs laid by chic hens in down to earth cardboard egg boxes. The parade goes on: chocolate aeroplanes, dirigibles, Easter egg cars with special license plates! It's all very amusing, has the light touch, and should be seen by all fun loving Carmel. And Blum's candies are exclusive on the Monterey Peninsula at LE GOURMET SHOP.

Since electric clocks can't be trusted at present, a fine selection of dependable spring clocks can be found at the VILLAGE JEWELERS on Dolores. Gleaming new cases are filled with round clocks, square clocks, large sturdy set clocks, travelling clocks in cases, tiny alarm clocks for hand bags. These will help you keep time, on time. The VILLAGE JEWELERS also reminds you that they do speedy, efficient watch repairing, and can do the job the same day if badly needed. They will also trade in old watches for new, with liberal value given on your watch.

Men news! Good news! Last Saturday morning was opening day of BRANSON'S MEN'S SHOP, with a flurry of people, flowers, and best wishes. The shop is located on Sixth near Lincoln and carries popular priced men's wear with an accent on the casual. There are Botany sport shirts and slacks, Hickok belts and suspenders, Koret of California sports wear, Crown of California sport shirts, a wonderful selection of ties. In the spring a young man about town's fancy turns to thoughts of gay attire, and he had better check in at BRANSON'S MEN'S SHOP and fulfill those smart clothes intentions.

Last week we told you about the VILLAGE LAMPLIGHTERS coming to town, and now for a few details: there will be lamps of every kind and variety, for every possible light need you will have: boudoir lamps, table, floor, pin up lamps, planter lamps, all designed with artistry, taste, and knowledge. The VILLAGE LAMPLIGHTER will also carry odd furnishing pieces in the way of interesting tables, love seats, wing chairs, mostly in Monterey and Cape Cod styles; they will show braided rugs and custom made boudoir ensembles. You can get many spring ideas for your home from this interesting new shop.

Bargain time, bargain time at BALZER'S CARMEL DEPARTMENT STORE where fashion smart bags are being presented to you for $2.95. Shoulder slung or wrist hung, the bags come in many sizes, colors of green, red, black, and a variety of chic browns, in leather or smooth suede cloth. Possibly the gayest feature about these hand bags is the shape in which they come; interesting angles, curves and depths make them truly new look accessories. And some are fitted with powder and lipstick cases for better functioning. Try yourself a new handbag at BALZER'S CARMEL DEPARTMENT STORE.

Would you pause anytime, anywhere, for a really good cup of coffee? MILDRED'S CAFE on Pearl Street in Monterey serves an extra special cupful and a wonderful luncheon every day except Sunday from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. for only sixty cents, and with that luncheon goes more of MILDRED'S CAFE coffee.

In spite of new inventions which will preserve flowers forever, everyone is going to go right on wanting to send flowers, receive flowers, constantly to renew associations with the sweetest gift possible, fresh flowers. The FLOR DE MONTEREY on Franklin has a superb assortment of flowers and plants, colorful, sweet, fresh, and a great variety of delicate greenery. Easter will be here March 28 and you will want to plan ahead for your gifts and corsages, the flower frou frou you will want for personal adornment, and the special blooms you will desire in your homes on Easter Day.

A delightful afternoon can be spent any Sunday in March studio-visiting with Miss E. M. HEATH on Lincoln near Thirteenth. From the hours of 1:00 till around fivish in the afternoon, her paintings will be displayed, and she will be most happy to have her friends and other guests stop in to have a look at them. Miss HEATH has long been a member of the Carmel Art Gallery, and this is an excellent opportunity to see a collection of all her own works, mostly oil marines and landscapes. Remember, every afternoon in March, is open studio at the E. M. HEATH studio.

The VILLAGE BOOKSHOP on Ocean takes space this week to urge you to devote your time and spirited energy to the Red Cross Drive. The VILLAGE BOOKSHOP is sincerely interested in the promotion of Red Cross Week, and hopes that all its customers and friends will find time to help make the week a Red Cross success.

Carmel cosmopolities will be interested in the VELLENGA ORIGINALS to be presented by Ted Dekker at his shop on Dolores near 6th opening March 19. These beautifully designed linens will charm hostesses who are interested in the gracious way of life, will fit like perfection into the artistic living of all true Carmelites.

When you plan on spring facials for yourself think of that house with sad walls eager for new paint and gay spring cheer. The Treasure Tone paints at the ARTIST'S PALLETTE have long ranges in shades, and there are lovely Easter egg colors to give you a holiday feeling. A new shade of sofe grey has been added to the list, a clear, cool grey, which would be wonderful accessorized with cyclamen or fuchsia. The ARTIST'S PALLETTE also carries a thorough line of artist materials.

Breakfast time? Lunch time? Tea time? Then it's TUCK BOX time. If you can't get along without superb omelettes, hot scones and marmalade, well blended teas, a great compulsion is going to take you into the charming little building on Dolores, where all these things are pleasantly served you, along with home made specialties in pies and cakes and cookies. There is a fairy tale quality about the TUCK BOX in which detailed cooking miracles constantly appear.

Broadcast to all women: Carmel climbs new beauty heights: Pedicures are to be had at the POWDER PUFF beauty salon. Miss Vivian Holnberg of Beverly Hills is the beauty expert who will groom your toes and sandal display, and with smooth facials miraclize that tired masque to your own gay face. Miss Holnberg came here vacationing, got under our spell, and decided to make it permanent. Winter is gone for sure and it is time for pre-Easter grooming from head to toe. Spring is worth a beauty effort, and you will want face, hair, hands and toes, soothed, curled, and manicured to their postive perfection at the POWDER PUFF Beauty Salon.

And where do we dine tonight? Someplace unusual? Gay atmosphere? Splendid Mexican food? There's one answer to that: MANUEL'S RESTAURANT on Huckleberry Hill. You'll find it's one of those special places you're always looking for, whether you're in New York, Santa Fe, or the Peninsula, and once you've found it, you keep going again and again. Restaurants, like people, like houses, have or have not a certain spirit about them, and MANUEL'S RESTAURANT is definitely on the Have side of the fence.

Pause before the HERITAGE ANTIQUE SHOP window, for you will find it filled with fascinating period details: taking stage center is an early Worcster Bar Flight Bar tea set in shell and sea fern designs of black and white touched with gold, and particularly unusual shapes in the teapot and sugar bowl. Other highlights are the Mahogany English knife box, English China pins, a Sheffield hurricane lamp, an English China port barrel, a set of incredibly delicate Dresden place cards, and a half dozen coin silver tea spoons. Walk past the HERITAGE ANTIQUE SHOP on Monte Verde and Seventh and enjoy this window decorated for your pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ullmann of Carmel Valley have been having a lot of fun for themselves and giving a lot of other people fun and pleasure running the CARMEL DAIRY FOUNTAIN on the main drag of Los Laurelles village. The FOUNTAIN is open every day from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m., serving milkshakes, sandwiches, and hot lunches at noon. Pep up your valley visit with a refreshing rest over at the CARMEL DAIRY FOUNTAIN.

KIP'S has something of a fiesta bazaar quality, for people seem to meet there, chat, and buy their wares. It's irresistible, what with eight busy clerks and three bustling butchers, all giving superb service and giving it happily. Those KIP shelves are loaded with everything you require, and the meat department has always fresh meat at reasonable prices, and is specializing now in Swift bacon, in piece or sliced, in beef, and spring lamb. An extra nice service is the delicatessen always open on Sundays, so you can dash down for snacks to go with lazy Sunday afternoon funny paper reading.

EL FUMADOR suggests that you keep cool. Their special feature is strawberry parfait. Every Wednesday will be Ice Cream Day when delicious flavors will sell at 59c a quart and 30c a pint. Page your ice cream at EL FUMADOR.

Pleasing the discerning needs of the mature woman is the DELTA DRESS SHOP at 110 Webster street opposite the post office, especially carrying smart clothes in large sizes up to 46. Meet spring, greet spring, in soft colors classically tailored, or in the charm of jersey prints, in wild color, or sweetly undertoned. Coats up to size 48 with large sleeves and flared backs will cover your prints; beige wool gabardines go out tailored, whereas the navy, black, powder blue wool crepes are slightly afternoonish. Let fashion fit itself to your size and needs as you select from the fashionable selectio nat the DELTA DRESS SHOP.

Superlatives for the Easter and all occasion, wrapping papers are to be found at the POOR SCHOLAR BOOKSHOP at Polk and Hartnell in Monterey, carried in addition to the book supply. Visualize your packages in silvery smooth frosted colors of pink, blue, green, purple, in sensational Roman stripes, glittering gold, or snakeskin tailored for men. Easter perfectionists might choose flowered pastels, or the silk screen hand blocked papers. Ties in assorted colors go with the papers, and package planning is gay with the wrapping niceties at the POOR SCHOLAR BOOKSHOP.

Fashion Show

A double fashion show was given at the Pine Inn fashion luncheon Wednesday by the Lanz shop and the Silver Thimble. Tables were crowded as usual and the sunny patio was filled with guests hatted and jacketed for fashion viewing. Models wandered into the patio, then strolled through the dining room, interweaving Lanz clothes with robes from the Silver Thimble. Mrs. George Vye, managing Lanz, looked model smart in her beret and grey tweed suit; Mrs. Frances Tilton, new owner of the Silver Thimble, patio lunched in a black faille suit.

An outstanding quilted outfit was modeled by casual Mrs. Richard Taylor; a long sleeved white cotton blouse was worn under a quilted black, red-stitched vest and puffed-out skirt quilted with bright red. Mrs. Taylor also modeled an ultra-swank hand woven imported plaid short coat, and a delicate little original Lanz print, blue cotton skirt with a four-tiered bustle in back. Robes slid past the tables hanging from the graceful shoulders of Mrs. Stanley A. Bergman, the former Kay Bates of Monterey. She showed a lovely quilted set of yellow print robe and crepe nightgown, and a stately pale blue set, shirred and frilled around the top. Hermost stunning appearance was in a black and pink striped lounging affair with long gathered black satin skirt; very elegant, very soignee. Mrs. Margot Bauer showed interesting shallis skirts from Switzerland with ruffled Gypsy blouses, and a hand blocked print underneath a honey colored huge collared short coat. Mrs. John Clancey, with wonderful new hair do, showed lovely crepe and satin robes, and appeared with her daughter, Pamela, in mother and daughter set of printed dirndles and organdy aprons.

Next week the fashion show will be presented by Gail Coupe's shop on San Carlos.

Houghs Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vincent Hough of the Highlands entertained at dinner Saturday evening at the Highland Inn. Their guests were Dr. and Mrs. Henry Houghton, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Seawell and Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Payne.

Mr. Hough's brother, Will M. Hough, well-known playwriter, is expected within the week for an indefinite stay in Carmel. He has resided for thirty years in Coronado. When he was writing comic operas, he collaborated with Victor Herbert, Joe Howard, and other music writers, in turning out many successful shows. Mr. Hough wrote the words to an old favorite, "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now," recently released to the films. This popular song was in his comic opera, The Time, Place and the Girl.

Woman's Auxiliary Luncheon

The March luncheon of All Saints' Woman's Auxiliary, Carmel, was held March 3, presided over by the president, Mrs. D. Macmillan Kerr. Dr. Remsen Bird, former president of Occidental College and now a resident of Carmel was the guest speaker.

Talking about The Spirit of Neighborliness Dr. Bird noted a tendency toward the passing of the small community in this country and pointed out that with this passing something valuable goes out of American life.

Dr. Bird closed with the thought that "our community exists not for transients but for human beings."

Mrs. J. Armistead Welbourn closed the meeting with devotionals. The Lenten luncheon was served by Mrs. Sydney Williams and her committee. There are two additional meetings in March; a business meeting which all members of the auxiliary are urged to attend, at one o'clock on Wednesday, March 17, followed by Lenten sewing at 2:00 p.m.

Royal Stowell Adds Roche Drawing To Personal Collection

Royal Stowell, Carmel artist, has added a colored pencil drawing of visiting muralist M. Paul Roche to his personal collection of sketches of distinguished persons. His collection includes autographed likenesses of Lily Pons, Enrico Caruso, and Geraldine Farrar. Stowell is a southpaw painter, but confesses that this does not lead to any technical peculiarities like painting his subjects sideways and turning them around.

Some of his more lucrative jobs have included making portraits of members of the Reynolds tobacco family and of the founders of Coca Cola.

I Go Rolling Along

I need no introduction. Through the years I have housed varied businesses, under several names. Many of you have seen me at my numerous localities. I have traveled.

Remember about 1920 when I was built for a real estate office on Ocean Avenue? Then in 1924 I was moved to Dolores Street just south of Ocean and became a barber shop. It was too drafty or too something at my new location, so I was again moved to a site on Sxith Street between Dolores and Lincoln, and was turned into a gift shop. Then Joe needed a home for his taxi business and I was unearthed again and rolled to the rear of the property. After a time on this site I started rolling again for Joe and landed on the corner of Dolores and Sixth.

I thought I would sit here for a spell, though I shivered every time the big buses stopped at my door. Only the width of sidewalk separated us. I stood the rumblings of the buses and the taxis in silence. But now! Now you're going to hear me whoop! "Come in! See how pretty I am!" For I've moved again, to nestle against the north side of the Village Corner, on the lot just south of the Post Office.

I'm to have a new face by Hugh Comstock, and my "innards" will be attractive, too. Looks like I'll stay at my new location a long time, from the husky foundation being put under me. So— no more rolling.

My new name will be Village Corner Candies. —C.V.H.

awards during the previous season. Concluding the basketball period, Coach Mosolf, amid shouts and cheers, gave credit to Carmel's lightweights and heavyweights for a successful season and presented the team members with their awards. He also complimented the Carmel rooting section for their sportsmanship and cooperation throughout the year. Those receiving their awards for basketball were: Tommy Handley, Dick Weer, Dick Garguilo, Lee Winslow, Paul Warner, Frank Timmons, Owen Greenan, Jim Hare, Phil Wettengel, Lew McCreery, Peter Berg, Stephen Whitaker, Lee Laugenour, Keith McKenzie, Walter Frey, Gene Vandervort, Bob Burgess, Pat Dormody, and Herman Menezes.

The girls came in for their share of glory. Caryl Hill, Anita Machado, June Updike, and Joan Harrington received their Girls Athletic Association Shield, after earning 500 points for participation in inter-class games. Numerals, earned when a girl has 750 points, were presented to Becky Bell, Marilyn Drapper, Laurel Hildebrand, Pat Timbers, Kathie von Mier, Benita Updike, while Jackie Briggs and Jennefer Lloyd were awarded the prized Block C. Roberta Roberts earned her first star, representing 1200 points, while Rosemarie Krupocki climbed to the 1500 mark to earn her second star.

Roberta Roberts' senior team, with three straight victories and no defeats now leads the volleyball field, closely followed by Joan Sanders' sophomore team and Margot Campbell's junior team, both of which have two wins and no losses in their favor.

Terminating their activities for Girls' Week, the Monterey Business and Professional Women's Club has invited twenty high school girls to attend their meeting at eight o'clock Thursday when there will be a discussion, in the form of a symposium, of various vocations, conducted by Mrs. Thelma Stohr, a member of the faculty of the Monterey Peninsula College. This is a grand opportunity for girls who are interested in professional work to become acquainted with Peninsula businesswomen. A group will attend from Carmel, sponsored by Dorothy Wright, Dean of Women.

Once more 24 enthusiastic students are off for the snow and a weekend of winter sports high in the Sierras. Those traveling to Yosemite are Nancy McCarthy, Edelen Cory, Nancy Brown, Betty Hendricks, Carmelita Fortier, Janice Hatton, Carol Bedeau, Mary Horne, Joy Westcott, Sunny Cook, Colleen Dolan, Edwina Brown, Carol Smith, "Biz" Carr, Marlene Becar, Joan McGrath, Peggy Riker, Bob Rissel, Murrey Wight, Mike Monahan, Peter Berg, Al Greene, Ronald Stoney, Rod Dewar and Frank Timmons. Chaperones accompanying them will be Stuart Mitchell, Leo Kohler, Howard Timbers, Robert Brown, Richard Hagadorn, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cook.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven. Thy faithfulness is unto all generations" (Psalms 119:89, 90). This is the Golden Text for the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, March 14. The subject is "Substance."

Included in the sermon are the following citations:

Psalms: "As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness" (17:15).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit, the synonym of Mind, Soul, or God, is the only real substance. The spiritual universe, including individual man, is a compound idea, reflecting the divine substance of Spirit" (p. 468).

St. John's Chapel
Del Monte

The Rev. Theodore Bell
Rector

St. John's Chapel is a beautiful little church nestling in a grove of giant oak trees. Men and women from many lands have found it to be a place apart. It may be that you also will find its atmosphere congenial to the spiritual life.
Those who seek in its stillness to grow more conscious of God's presence do not go unrewarded.

2 Sunset Teachers Asked To Demonstrate Teaching Technique

A tribute to the teaching personnel of Sunset School was received this week in the form of an invitation to two teachers, Mrs. Katherine French and Mrs. Ann D. Uzzell to teach at the San Jose State Summer Demonstration School—to show teachers how to teach.

"They are outstanding in the teaching field or they would not have been asked," Principal Arthur Hull commented. He added that other plans for the summer will make it impossible for them to accept.

Mrs. French has taught at Sunset since 1942; Mrs. Uzzell since 1933.

Auguste F. Gay

Services were held yesterday at the T. A. Dorney Funeral Home in Monterey for Auguste F. Gay, artist and craftsman, who has made his home on the Peninsula since 1922.

He was a member of the Carmel and San Francisco Art Associations, and his murals decorate the walls of Monterey High School, Casa Munras, Biff's, and other public places on the Peninsula.

Gay was born in France in 1890, and came to this country in 1901. For the past ten years he has lived in Carmel, at Del Monte and Pescadero. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Marcel Gay of Carmel, a brother, Kleber Gay of Monterey, and a sister, Mrs. Olyme Allegretti of Oakland.

WHAT'S HANGING OVER YOUR FLOOR FURNACE?

Councilman Donald Craig, fire commissioner, stated at the council meeting last week that are the result of someone's are the result of some one's carelessness regarding a gas floor furnace.

"People sweep dust into them and the lint ignites. They hang clothes over them to dry and the clothes fall down and catch on fire. In the last two months our only serious fires have been caused by floor furnaces, and would not have occurred if someone hadn't been careless."

station he owned at Sixth and Mission, but is planning to reenter business in Carmel shortly.

He has been on the city council for three years as street commissioner. He is running for re-election because the street department, which he has brought up to full strength, has several projects underway which he has organized and which he hopes to be able to direct to their completion.

He has received a letter from Mayor Fred Godwin, asking him to run for re-election. He says he believes in maintaining Carmel's present charm, and in keeping our trees and scenery intact. He filed his candidacy on March 2, and is sponsored by George Mosolf, G. E. Knapp, P. A. McCreery, Frederick Bechdolt, Walter Nielsen, Ernest Schweninger, Arthur Hull, Clayton B. Neill, Frank Putnam, Mark J. Ragget and Eben Whittlesey.

CYRENIUS NEWCOMB TO ADDRESS CLASS

Cyrenius Newcomb of Ann Arbor, Michigan, will address Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte's current literature group at 7:30 next Tuesday evening in Room 11 of Sunset School. All those interested in participating in a "group thinking experiment" are welcome to attend as the guests of the Carmel Adult School.

After this meeting there will be a two weeks' recess because of the Easter holidays, the next speaker after Mr. Newcomb to be presented March 30.

Old Timers Asked To Help Mrs. Nixon With Memory Book

schools, then school additions, finally, present day structures; to show the development of the commuity through the churches, the buildings, the houses. She has become so busy with this work that she has resigned activity in all clubs, for though she began collecting in 1944, she has had little time to work at arranging her material until this year.

She asks oldtimers to help her with her album. Photographs can be left at the library, sent to Box 2016, left at her home at Dolores and Ninth, or if anybody wishes to call 52-W, Mrs. Nixon will pick up any material they care to contribute to this community book.

Robert E. Jones' Biography Of Gray Out This Week

A biography of Chester Earl Gray, Industry Builder, by Robert E. Jones, who makes his home on the Point, was brought out this week under the imprint of Pacific Books of Palo Alto.

It is the story of the invention of dry milk, which is for our generation as revolutionary as the development of canned goods during the Napoleonic era, and which was instrumental in staving off malnutrition among the armed forces of this country as well as among the civilian populations of other nations.

To the general public, without knowledge of the advantages of advanced methods in agricultural chemistry, much of the material in this book will be surprising. The devotion of a business man to the improvement of an industry represents the heroism of today comparable to that of other pioneers in learning of earlier times.

Mr. Jones is editor-publisher of the Pacific Dairy Review and for many years was staff writer on The Scramento Bee and The Union. He has also published articles in The Farmer, The Country Gentleman, The American Fruit Grower, The Field, The Dairy Farmer and other periodicals. He was for many years manager of the Pacific Slope Dairy Association and also handled public and labor relations for the milk industry in California. He is peculiarly well fitted to cover the subject of this biography.
